SUMMARY

This report demonstrates coverage trends in seven prominent Pakistani newspapers, revealing various topics at national and international level. The indexed data highlights that 36 topics at national and 21 topics at international level were covered in these seven newspaper during the month of March 2025. However, we employed criteria (occurrence of minimum 15 times of a topic) to highlight the major focus of these newspaper. As per this criteria, there was a strong focus on domestic issues, with 16 topics from Pakistan dominating compared to eight international topics. Overall, the editorial landscape of Pakistani newspapers clear alignment with issues that are economically, politically, and socially consequential. Leading the coverage is the United States of America with 66 editorial articles, highlighting Pakistan's media interest in US policies, diplomacy, economic influence, and global leadership role. In parallel, Pakistan's own economy emerges as the top domestic focus with 58 articles, reflecting concerns around inflation, fiscal policy, unemployment, and economic reforms. Security-related issues hold a major editorial space. Terrorism and extremism (49 mentions) and governance (47) signify ongoing concerns about national stability, political accountability, and counterterrorism strategies.

Indexed Newspaper and Their Number of Entries

The report of seven major Pakistani newspapers in English language provides trends and patterns publishing in these selected newspapers (Data attached as Annexure – I). Table 1 provides insight into the editorial activity of major English-language newspapers in Pakistan for the month of March 2025. A total of 887 editorial articles were indexed from seven newspapers, showing varying levels of contribution across these publications. Among the newspapers, Pakistan Observer emerged as the leading contributor with 149 editorials, making up 16.80% of the total content. Close behind was The News, which published 145 editorials (16.40%), reaffirming its role as a prominent platform for editorial expression. The Business Recorder followed with 141 pieces (15.90%), highlighting its continued emphasis on economic and financial issues through editorial commentary. Dawn, a well-established and widely respected publication, contributed 126 editorials, accounting for 14.20% of the total. Daily Times and The Express Tribune also maintained steady outputs, publishing 120 and 113 editorials respectively. While The Nation contributed comparatively fewer editorials, 93 articles or 10.50%, it still played a meaningful role in the national editorial landscape.

Newspaper Coverage at National Level

The indexed newspaper entries provide a comprehensive overview of the topics covered in the Pakistani context, highlighting the diversity of issues addressed across seven major newspapers (Data attached as Annexure – I). Overall, it covers 35 various topics at national level in these seven Pakistani newspapers in English language (Figure 2).

The analysis of national-level editorial coverage reveals a strong focus on pressing socio-economic and governance-related issues. Among the 34 identified thematic categories, the economy dominated with 58 editorial mentions. Terrorism and extremism remained a major concern, with 49 entries emphasizing internal security, radicalization, and counter-terrorism efforts. Government or governance followed closely with 47 pieces, highlighting the public and media scrutiny on institutional performance, policymaking, and administrative reforms. Education also received significant attention (41 editorials), indicating growing public interest in academic reforms, access, and quality of education in the country. Environmental issues secured a notable share with 31 articles, suggesting a rising awareness around climate change, pollution, and resource sustainability. This was followed by power and natural resources (30), women's rights (29), and international relations (27), reflecting a balanced engagement with both domestic challenges and global diplomatic dynamics.

A moderate level of attention was given to current issues (24), war, peace and security (23), and social issues (21), while health (18), science and technology (19), politics (19), and Islam and legal institutions (20 each) were discussed to a lesser extent. These topics, though not as dominant, still indicate a diverse editorial focus touching upon vital sectors of society. Topics such as media and journalism, crimes, human rights, Kashmir, and sports received relatively limited editorial space (ranging between 5–9 articles), indicating their marginal placement in the national editorial narrative during the analyzed period. Similarly, more specialized or cultural topics like arts, biographies, comparative religions, and ethnicity appeared only sporadically (2–3 mentions each), reflecting either niche interest or editorial prioritization of more urgent national matters.

Newspaper Coverage at Global Level

The international-level coverage across the indexed newspapers provides a detailed insight into the global focus and priorities reflected in the media. Overall, there are 21 various topics have been covered at global level in these seven Pakistani newspapers in English language (Figure 3).

The international editorial landscape as reflected in Pakistani newspapers during March 2025 reveals a strong geopolitical orientation, with a dominant focus on the United States of America. With 66 editorials, the USA received the highest coverage among all global topics, indicating its centrality in Pakistan's foreign policy discourse, international economic developments, global diplomacy, and security narratives. Following the USA, India emerged as the second most covered country with 30 editorials, focusing on its internal politics, foreign policy, regional conflicts, and bilateral relations with Pakistan. Broader global themes such as international relations and foreign policies (24 mentions) and world politics (23 mentions) also featured prominently. China, a key strategic partner of Pakistan, also received 24 mentions, underlining the editorial interest in Sino-Pak relations, regional stability, and China's expanding global influence.

Coverage of the OIC, the Islamic world, and the West vs Muslim world narrative appeared in 19 articles. This was followed by world social issues (18), world economy (17), and world security (13). Notably, terrorism and extremism at the global level attracted 11 mentions, while education systems (6) and environmental protection strategies (5) were moderately represented. However, topics such as world history and archaeology, global financial institutions (e.g., IMF, World Bank), nuclear programs, and international organizations like the UN received limited editorial attention (3–5 mentions each), possibly due to either a lack of major developments or a shift in editorial priorities. At the lower end of the spectrum, human rights, business opportunities, and global resource management were minimally addressed (1–2 mentions each), signaling a potential underrepresentation of critical yet less sensational global issues.

Major Publishing Trends (combing both National and Global) in Pakistani Newspapers

The combined trends (with minimum frequency of occurrence = 15) from the indexed topics in Pakistani and international contexts reveal significant patterns of media focus and public discourse, highlighting areas of national and global interest. It highlights a notable disparity in focus, with a strong emphasis on domestic issues compared to global ones.

Out of the 24 topics meeting the minimum frequency threshold of 15, 16 pertain to national contexts and eight from the international context. The editorial landscape of Pakistani newspapers clear alignment with issues that are economically, politically, and socially consequential. Leading the coverage is the United States of America with 66 articles, highlighting Pakistan's media interest in US policies, diplomacy, economic influence, and global leadership role. In parallel, Pakistan's own economy emerges as the top domestic focus with 58 pieces, reflecting concerns around inflation, fiscal policy, unemployment, and economic reforms. Security-related issues hold a major editorial space. Terrorism and extremism (49 mentions) and governance (47) signify ongoing concerns about national stability, political accountability, and counterterrorism strategies. Similarly, World Politics (23) and International Relations (27) show an interest in Pakistan's strategic positioning and the global order. Education (41), health (18), and women rights (29) indicate growing attention to human development and equity.

Environment and sustainability also feature strongly, with environmental issues receiving 31 mentions. Alongside, power and natural resources (30), banking and finance (15), and science & technology (19) suggest increasing awareness of climate resilience, energy management, economic modernization, and digital transformation. Geopolitical interests are widespread. Apart from the USA, countries like India (30) and China (24) are also frequently mentioned, highlighting regional political concerns, economic ties, and border security issues. Multilateral discussions involving OIC, Islamic world conflicts (19), and world social issues (18) show editorial focus on ideological alignments and humanitarian themes in the broader Muslim world, especially related to Gaza crises and Israeli atrocities.

Topics like current issues (24), politics (19), war, peace and security (23), and world economy (17) round out the media agenda with a focus on diplomacy, domestic affairs, global crises, and economic interdependence. These categories reflect newspapers' responsiveness to unfolding events and their significance for Pakistan's national interest.
